EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations prescribe descriptions of persons who, for the purposes of the Public Bodies (Joint Working) (Scotland) Act 2014 (“the Act”), are within the definition of “health professionals” or “social care professionals”.

Regulation 2 sets out prescribed descriptions of health professionals. The effect of this is that persons registered with a range of regulatory bodies covering the medical and nursing professions, allied health professions and other health services such as optometry, pharmacy and dentistry will be treated as “health professionals” for the purposes of the Act.

Regulation 3 sets out prescribed descriptions of social care professionals. In contrast with health professionals, there is a single regulatory body for social service workers (including social workers) in Scotland, the Scottish Social Services Council (“SSSC”). Paragraph (a) provides that persons who are registered with the SSSC are a prescribed description of social care professional for the purposes of the Act. Paragraph (b) provides that persons working in social care, but who are exempt from registration with the SSSC, are also a prescribed description of social care professional. This exemption applies to persons who are regulated by another professional body as set out in the Regulation of Care (Social Service Workers) (Scotland) Order 2005. Paragraphs (a) and (b) apply to all social services workers whether or not they work in a service provided under integrated health and social care services. Paragraph (c) prescribes other types of social care worker who are engaged in the provision of care or support to users of services provided under integrated health and social care services but who are not regulated by the SSSC.
